

It's been six months since I wrote anything here? On my. That's not growing any community.

So, warning given, these are the topics that I find interesting or important:

- Why Herman Cain can't be elected President. He can't, sadly, and there is just one reason why. No, it's not that one either.
- Just how damaged is the United States?
- How I intend to stimulate the economy, singlehandedly.
- And why I am not an athlete, despite my efforts to become one.

In the meantime, consider actually signing up here. This is about to grow from the future CyberNexus to the new, improved (?), and only CyberNexus. You're welcome here!
